

Editorial

Dear Reader,

It is a pleasure and an honor for the community of this journal to be the gateway for authors from other countries to the academic scene in Brazil and many other parts of the world.

In accordance with our worldview, it is more than ever essential to be aware of and disseminate what other researchers and other research centers are studying and challenging, in society and in the knowledge economy. It is essential to know new research frontiers, in the context of new epistemological landscapes, new theoretical aspects, new methodological possibilities, new morphological approaches, new technological modalities and new presentations of increasingly robust metrics, in the solid environment of Management Sciences.

International academic integration is inspiring, not only for the evolution of knowledge, but also for human development, in all its nuances. The references coming, especially from research centers from other countries in intense development of knowledge, establish new paths to increase the individual integration of researchers and their study units, extending knowledge about new realities that have been occurring in the world. After all, through scientific dissemination, people are integrated into other political, social, cultural and economic frontiers.

It is in this sense that this journal dares, once again, to publish a Special International Edition, with contributions from several countries, notably from Eastern Europe and Asia. These are articles selected preliminarily at the origin, deserving acceptance and publication in this journal, in accordance with the major reference journals. These are submitted to all theoretical, methodological and formatting rigors, meeting the demands of the Guidelines for Authors.

They are articles, therefore, that substantially add frontiers of knowledge to contemporary literature, in the area of management and technology. They are important enough to present new perspectives and trajectories for the evolution of knowledge.

Therefore, we present our academic greetings to the authors, as well as a welcome to the scenario of international scientific production, especially from Brazil.

This International Special Edition presents articles dispersed by thematic areas in the field of management, but predominantly from the Russian Federation. Other contributions come from Ukraine, Belarus, Poland and China.

Reaffirming its purposes, the Journal of Management & Technology, through this Editorial, expresses its satisfaction and honor in presenting these contributions to scientific communities in the most diverse parts of the world. It offers, in line with the state of the art at the moment, substantial, robust, consistent, important and timely content, provided by researchers, aiming at contributing to the evolution of knowledge on critical foundations of management science. These are articles that effectively challenge the status quo of each frontier addressed, in terms of theories and methodologies. In this sense, we thank the authors who believed in the purposes of this journal, submitting their articles in accordance with the criteria and publication processes. Awaiting contributions in the form of article submissions, serious evaluations consistent with the purposes of this journal, her recommendations to her students and friends, as well as contributory criticism, I renew my best wishes for a good reading and excellent reflections.
